

Five Cookies

By: Jodie Flint & Daniela Vasquez

Five cookies with frosting sweet,
Make a tasty, yummy treat.
Mom takes the pink one, as you can see,
That leaves four for you and me.

Four cookies in frosting clothes,
Tastes so good, as everyone knows.
Dad takes the yellow one, as you can see,
That leaves three for you and me.

Three cookies sitting on a dish,
As sweet and tasty, as anyone could wish.
Sister takes the purple one, as you can see,
That leaves two for you and me.

Two cookies shaped like men.
They know they will be eaten, but don't know when.
Brother takes the blue one, as you can see,
That leaves one for you and me.

One cookie sits there all alone,
Looking much tastier than a bone.
I'll take the green one, as you can see,
I'm sorry - the last cookie's just for me!
